UJA SECURITIES DONATION POLICY:
For the purpose of determining the value of the donation for charitable donation receipt purposes, the Securities will be valued at an amount equal to the number of Securities transferred to the account of UJA multiplied by the closing market price on the relevant stock exchange (being the stock exchange where most of the corporation's stock has been traded in the immediately preceding month) on the date that UJA gains dominion and control over the Securities or, if UJA sells the Securities on the same day that it gains dominion and control of the Securities, the gross sale price per security of the Securities on the relevant stock exchange (in either case, the "Receipted Value"). Provided that UJA takes steps to sell the Securities forthwith following receipt, in the event that the actual gross proceeds of sale received by UJA on the sale of the said securities, less selling commission, is less than the Receipted Value, UJA may ask the Donor a payment equal to such deficiency within 14 days of the receipt of the Securities.
