Rosh Hashanah can be such a special time of year. Those of us who choose to engage in the religious teachings are reminded throughout the High Holy Day season that we are encouraged to look inward: To review how we have behaved in the past year, and to consider how can we do better in the coming year. For some of us though, we may not have a strong connection to a religious community and we prefer to just take some downtime. Perhaps we'll take the opportunity to be introspective, or perhaps we'll simply take the opportunity to spend some time "off". No matter how you choose to mark Rosh Hashanah, or express your Jewish-ness throughout the year, our community has opportunities for you. You'll find information about Reform and Conservative High Holiday celebrations of all types in this edition. All of these organizations will welcome you to come in and get to know them. Reach out to them for details, or reach out to us if you have any questions.

Throughout the year, you'll also learn about a wide variety of community events that have Jewish themes; you can dip your toe in the water if you're not sure how you want to be connected to Judaism, you can dive in head first if you're sure you want it all, or you can find opportunities to just get together with other Jews.

Families with young children continue to benefit from PJ Library and activities specifically for you. If you haven't met our new PJ Library Coordinator, Liz Frederick, then watch for info on events coming from her – or reach out to her directly at: PJ@JewishOrangeNY.org. Come meet other families who are raising their children with Jewish values and make connections for yourself and your kids that can last a lifetime. Not connected to PJ Library yet? Register your 12 or under children for these free books at: PJLibrary.org.

Do you have teens in your household that you would like to stay connected to other Jewish teens? Then connect with our Jewish Orange Youth (JOY) Teen Coordinator, Loretta Trinco to find out what's coming up: JewishOrangeYouth@Gmail.com.

Watch your email for events throughout the year. Don't receive our emails? Let us know and we'll make sure you do!

No matter your background, family makeup, or how or whether you choose to celebrate, I wish you a happy, healthy new year full of joy, health, and positive connections.

See you around the county,

Wendy Cedar, Executive Director

Director@JewishOrangeNY.org

Thursday, September 12, 7:00pm: Alden Solovy
Poet of the Reform Movement

Enter These Gates: Meditations for the Days of Awe

Enter These Gates is a High Holy Day companion for our times, with more than 100 new poems, prayers, and meditations for Rosh HaShanah and Yom Kippur. Poet-liturgist Alden Solovy draws from his unique spirit to blend today's issues with classic themes, layering a modern voice into beloved motifs. Unetaneh Tokef/The Power of the Day—is a four-part masterpiece echoing the central themes of the High Holidays. We will examine this liturgical poem—the inspiration for Leonard Cohen's song 'Who by Fire'—as a study in contrasts, with a core theme and a surprisingly subversive poetic subtext.
